Bay releases money to schools without strings

BY AMY PICKICH

Bay St. Louis City Council members unanimously agreed Tuesday to release gaming contributions to the Bay-Waveland school district without the initial strings attached by the council.

Mayor Eddie Favre presented a resolution to the council which stated, "...the contributions of the gaming developments pursuant to the service agreement with the city are to be used by the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District as the school board and the superintendent deem necessary and proper."

The city council initially wanted to specify use of the some $480,000 the district would receive from a service agreement between the city and Casino Magic.

A payment of $56,302 will accompany the resolution.

Said Bay-Waveland school superintendent Paul Tisdale on Wednesday, "On behalf of the students, staff, administration and school board, we certainly appreciate the city's graciousness, patience and efforts in working through the obstacles to made these monies available from the gaming industry."

OPEN-CONTAINER LAW

The council took a new open-container law under advisement until their next meeting in two weeks. The present law does not specify alcohol.

Councilman Jimmy Rutherford said he wanted to add "any glass container" to the ordinance because of the dangers associated with glass.

"We need to get this in place before the holidays," said council president Jim Thriffley.

BUDGET UPDATE

Municipal Clerk Kay Johnson reported $352,644 in the city's general fund and $181,905 in the utility fund. She said the city received a sales tax check for September of $71,224. The city had received some $54,000 in September of 1992.

Johnson reported an October payment of $323,739 in gaming revenues and $31,214 in gaming revenue taxes.

In other matters the board approved:

Cablevision announces outages

BY AMY PICKICH

If you're experiencing any cable outages this week, a spokesman for Cablevision said there is reason.

It's Cablevision's first phase of upgrading current facilities, according to Cablevision chief technician Robert Garoutte.

In an effort to upgrade the office, Garoutte said outages would occur throughout most of Hancock County, beginning Wednesday, Nov. 17, and should only occur late at night. He said outages should end Friday.

Garoutte said customers should then see "a small improvement in their picture."

The next phase of improvement, which Garoutte said should be completed by Jan. 1, will directly improve overall service.

Cablevision announced the outages earlier this week to improve their communication with customers.

Bay St. Louis city council members recently told Cablevision representatives that the company's overall service to residents has been 'unacceptable', citing frequent outages and infrequent availability to customers.

At Tuesday's meeting, councilman Jimmy Rutherford said anyone within the cable district who has had cable outages should contact city hall, preferably in writing, with dates and times of outages. He will ask the council to file complaints accordingly with the FCC at their next meeting.

The council has authorized attorney John Scafide "to pursue to the fullest and go after any criminal negligence if applicable."

The city is conducting an audit of Cablevision's franchise fee payments. Mayor Eddie Favre said the city should receive the audits by Dec. 7.

Casino Magic presents game plan

BY AMY PICKICH

Casino Magic representatives presented site plans for a fully-developed facility in a joint workshop Monday with Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning commissioners and city council members.

"I think it's starting to evolve into something that everybody can be happy with," said commission chairman Les Fillingame after the presentation.

Fillingame said a few details need to be ironed out, but plans would be slated for approval at the commission's Dec. 8 meeting.

The commission requested the full-development plan Oct. 19 after tabling the casino's variance request to build a parking lot south of Felicity Street and west of Engman Avenue.

A series of workshops and meetings followed in which officials and residents aired concerns over parking and development plans in residential areas.

At Monday's workshop, casino representatives Gene Fennell and Don Clark from Brown and Mitchell addressed the parking and expansion concerns of residents and officials.

"With these plans, we don't foresee going into residential areas for parking," Fennell said.

The master plan presented includes additional parking

Supervisors discuss new county computer system

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Hancock County officials aired plans for a new computer system Monday to replace the "antiques" now operating in the county assessor's office.

Details of the proposed system were discussed at a board of supervisors meeting, although no action was sought or taken on the matter.

County Tax Assessor Edward Murtagh Jr. said the computer and mapping system that the county currently uses simply is outdated. Lee Bennett, ad valorem consultant to Murtagh, said the existing system, purchased used about seven years ago, represents "antiques in the computer world."

The board has been briefed over the past several months on needs to upgrade the computerized record-keeping for tax appraisal purposes, said Bennett, and on the other agencies of county government that will also benefit from a modernized system.

"You're probably one of the most informed boards of supervisors in the state" on such matters, Bennett said.

While the new system is "not a magic wand," Bennett said it will go far to bring the county up to date.

Plans call for replacing the county's Wang computer with an IBM version, and converting the software now in use so it can be used in the new computer.

In addition, the county hopes to buy the ser-

Verbal support offered for casino

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino was the subject of some sympathetic words Monday, but Hancock County officials saw little they could do to expedite the facility's opening.

The board of supervisors chatted briefly at Monday's meeting about the delay in the casino's hoped-for opening. Casino officials say the facility will be complete this month, but it'll be next month at the earliest before it can open its doors.

State officials can't issue a permit for it to open until background investigations are completed on the casino's principals, and the state Gaming Commission votes to issue the operating permit.

County attorney Gerald Gex noted that a lot of local residents are waiting to go to work for the casino. And, he noted, the casino will miss operating during the Thanksgiving holiday, "which is one of the biggest gambling times."

Supervisor Robert Peterson raised the issue of the loss of revenues to the county. Part of the casino's profits will go into the county's coffers.

"There's too much hem-hawing," commented supervi-

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Christians are everywhere

I had made very good time. Too good; for my attention had slid away from the gas gauge to my destination which was now within 25 minutes of easy driving. Then the car shuddered.

After momentary confusion, I said aloud, "Oh no!" It quickly settled upon me that the car was out of gas. Ready to kick myself, I muttered, "How can this be? I haven't done this in 23 years, and even then it was a faulty gas gauge."

Ironically, what distracted me was the very thing which should have insured that I not forget to check the gas. I had been discussing with friends the frightful highway insanity of the past months, beginning with Michael Jordan's father.

Then, of course, there was the unfortunate German tourist wasted in Miami, followed by the Englishman murdered in Tallahassee. Far more unthinkable, a motorist was shot to death at a rest stop in Oregon. Can you believe, Oregon?

As the night grew into midnight and the wee hours, items of the conversations kept stinging my memory until they gave me a mild complex. I did everything right, dutifully passing even nice-looking hitchhikers, stopping at well-lit stores.

At length, I was lulled into euphoria by the late-night success of reaching the three-quarter mark of the trip in good shape. Thus, I forgot to read the gas gauge, which I normally do routinely, and so I wound up walking in the dark.

All the news, all the dreaded information about highway horrors kept revisiting me. I looked all around constantly, alertly, flinching whenever the 18-wheelers flew by at breakneck speeds, sucking everything in their slipstream.

A somewhat old phenomenon struck me anew: Not only were passing drivers leery of picking me up; I was perhaps even more leery of having anyone stop to pick me up.

So it was with the gravest misgivings that I spied a car pulling to a stop 600 yards ahead of me. At first, the car was stationary, its trouble lights blinking. As I drew a bit closer, it began to back up on the shoulder.

REFLECTIONS—Page 3A

ST. ANN AND ST. JOHN NEWS

Thoughts for meditation: Those who have known a problem first hand are usually better able to help others walking through the same difficulty.

Praise be to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of compassion and the God of all comfort, who comforts us in all our troubles, so that we can comfort those in any trouble with the comfort we ourselves have received from God.

II Corinthians

"I see Jesus in every human being. I say to myself, this is hungry Jesus, I must feed Him. This is sick Jesus. This one has leprosy or gangrene; I must wash him and tend to him. I serve them because I love Jesus."

—Mother Teresa
 Remind me, Lord, that to get nearer to You I must care about others. Please help me see You when I look at those in need, and give me the desire to be a servant in Your strength. Amen.

It's easy to hate an enemy, but it costs to love him!

But love your enemies, do good to them, and lend to them without expecting to get anything back. Then your reward will be great.

Hoda said the vehicle was stolen from a business on Highway 90 West.

Wedig is being held in the Hancock County Justice Facility on a $25,000 bond.

Detective Glen Strong assisted Hoda.

GUN THEFT

Two minors, arrested on Nov. 4 for possession of guns to Hancock High school, have now been charged with three burglaries in Pearlinton, according to Hoda.

Sheriff's department deputies have recovered a total five guns stolen from the area, two of which were recovered at the school.

Two males, age 15 and 16, have been released pending a future court date, according to Hoda.

Detectives assisting Hoda were Mike Henley, George Burleson, and Glen Strong.

WAVELAND BURGLARY

The Waveland Police Department is investigating the burglary of seven trailers behind Walmart, according to deputy Sandra Henley.

Henley said they received a call that the trailers, used for storage by Walmart, were broken into on the night of Nov. 11 or the morning of Nov. 12.

Walmart is conducting an inventory check to determine how much was stolen.

If anyone has any information, contact the Waveland Police Department at 467-3669.

BURGLARIES

Sheriff's department deputies arrested two juveniles and one adult in connection with recent burglaries in the Bienville Community of Hancock County, according to Detective Nathan Hoda.

Jonathan Irving, 18, a 14-year-old and a 16-year-old, all of the Bienville Community have been charged with five counts of burglary in the area.

Irving is being held in the county jail facility on a $5,000 bond. The youths have been released to their parents.

Hoda said the burglaries are still under investigation and more arrests are expected.

Assisting Hoda were Detectives Glen Strong, George Burleson and Steve Garner.

Wilmer Seymour. But Gex said short of passing a resolution on the matter, there was little the commission could do.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce decided Monday that it would not issue a resolution asking that the licensing be expedited. Cindy Vernon, executive director of the chamber, said the chamber wrote a letter last summer asking that state officials consider the permit "as soon as possible."

Reflections

"For better or for worse, this one's coming after me," I thought to myself. Within a minute, he had reached me, and I walked on the grass to give him plenty of elbow room.

Peering in the open passenger-side window, I gave my name and asked his. "Justin Owens!" came the disarming answer. "I stopped to see what I can do for you."

As my eyes studied the appearance, the size, the demeanor, the speech and the moves of the thirtyish-looking Caucasian male, I reflected on the long odds of having someone stop who is not up to mischief and who actually means you well.

"It's mighty dangerous out here," I came straight at him. "I am amazed that you dared stop to help me."

"My wife and I are Christians," he rejoined firmly. "It is what I have to do as a Christian. I do ask God for discernment, and I do pass rough-looking people by."

"You do have faith and courage. However, be very careful as you go about helping people, though I am hardly one to talk and advise while you are sticking your neck out for me."

Instead of two touch-and-go, weary hours, only 30 minutes were needed to get me underway. Watch your gas, folks!

Yes, Christians are everywhere. The only tragic note nowadays is that they must be so very wary and skeptical.

near existing parking south of Felicity Street, but west of Casino Magic Drive. A parking garage is also planned closer to the casino.

Future development plans presented included an 18- or 27-hole Arnold Palmer golf course with academy. The size will depend on area wetlands. Additional parking is planned in the northern part of the course near a clubhouse.

Fillingame said the golf course will serve as a sufficient buffer for the residential areas.

After the meeting Casino

Magic CEO Marlin Torgusen said with the development of a hotel and golf course, tourists would stay in Bay St. Louis longer and spend more money at local businesses.

A convention-entertainment center is also part of the full-development plan. Torgusen said final completion of the whole project will take at least two years.

PARKING DEFICIT

Fennell also addressed the casino's parking need for current facilities. Right now the casino has about 1,950 spaces, a deficit of some 1,000 spaces.

Fennell calculated the facility now has a need for 3,200 spaces. At full development, the casino would need 4,700 spaces.

Fennell said his calculations are based on 8.5 percent of a door count of 20,000 visitors a day. He added that 20,000 is a maximum figure; a normal high would be 14,000 a day.

If plans are approved at planning and zoning's Dec. 8 meeting, the matter is then subject to approval by the Bay St. Louis City Council.

vices of an Atlantic Aerial Surveys to photograph the county and, using "space age technology," convert the maps into the computerized system.

Bennett said the Atlantic Aerial and Heritage Group were recommended as service contract holders for the new system, after extensive study of potential contractors. Also in on Monday's presentation were representatives from Pearl River Community College and Stennis Space Center, which are helping the county in the project.

Aside from modernizing the property tax appraisal system, the new computer will substantially upgrade services available to the Sheriff's Office and the 911 emergency system, the board was told.

Most of the system's cost can be paid out of an existing two-mill tax levy that generates about $328,000 annually, Bennett said. Financial details are expected to be aired at the board's next session.

In other business, the board accepted actions taken last week by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. Supervisors also agreed to a commission request that it send a resolution to the Bureau of Marine Resources pertaining to a proposed wetlands fill at Bayou Caddy Marina.

David N. McDonald, commission president, said the property at issue would be used as a parking lot for car and trailer traffic using the boat launch -- not as a parking lot for visitors to the new Jubilee Casino opening next to the marina.

McDonald said some of the small strip of property is classified as wetlands, causing BMR to withhold permits for the project.

District 4 Supervisor Wilmer Seymour said he's gotten several complaints about large commercial boats blocking the marina's canal, and he asked McDonald to investigate the problem.

CAUTION LIGHTS

In other business, the commission agreed that flashing caution lights, or traffic signals, should be installed at the intersection of Lower Bay and Lakeshore roads. The intersection, near an elementary school, is on the main route to the Jubilee Casino.

Expressing concern over the upcoming traffic volume and potential safety problem, were Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson and District 1 Supervisor Robert Peterson.

ROAD COMPLAINTS

The board spent much of its meeting dealing with complaints concerning county roads.

Paul Douget, a resident of Ansley, urged the supervisors to consider paving Herron Bay Road. Douget said although county road crews have worked continuously to keep the road passable, it generally is in poor shape, and a burden to the community. Commissioners held out no hope of paving the road, and emphasized how much time and money the county has spent on the route already.

"There's been more money put on Herron Bay Road than in my entire district," said Seymour, saying the route is the only one in the entire county that is routinely graded on a weekly basis.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It was a 'homecoming' of sorts for Hancock County native Brett Favre Sunday as he led the Green Bay Packers past the New Orleans Saints 19-17.

After being chased all afternoon, Favre engineered a drive setting up a field goal in the last seconds of the game to put Green Bay on top.

All that counts in football is a winning score, and Brett can take credit for a victory in enemy territory, even though it is just a few miles from his home.

Brett did have a lot of hometown folks cheering for him and should remember this victory for many years to come.

It takes a lot to make quarterback for a university or college team and much, much more to become a professional football quarterback.

I am sure his father, Irvin Favre at Hancock North Central, can recall the days when he was a youngster trying his hand at quarterback and having the hope that one day Brett would make it big.

Keep up the good work Brett. Your parents, relatives and friends in Hancock County are pulling for you to go all the way.

I never thought it would stop raining Monday night. The rains caused extensive flooding in the Bay-Waveland and Hancock County areas.

Several streets had to be closed because of surface water.

Our drainage systems are not capable of handling such an abundance of water in such a short time.

Ditches were all overflowing with water rushing to the streams, rivers and Bay.

We have a big outlet for water in the Bay, but it has to travel to get their first.

Over the years there have been many talks about comprehensive drainage studies, and that is about as far as it gets when cost estimates are mentioned in the millions.

Flooding is a problem that needs to be faced one day. The longer it will take to get the project done, the more it will cost.

Congratulations are in order for my longtime friends Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Lusich, who recently celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary.

I have known the Lusichs for many years, going back to when they opened their department store on Third Street in Bay St. Louis.

Since their retiring several years ago, I know they have been busy doing many of the things they always wanted to.

One of them is fishing, and I know they have caught their share of bluegills, speckled trout, bass and flounders in their retirement years.

I hope they will have many more anniversaries and continue to enjoy life.

Need I mention the fact that it is time to start thinking about making those lists of Christmas gifts?

Christmas is only five weeks away and will be here very fast.

I would like to recommend to everyone to please shop at home - most everything can be purchased within your area.

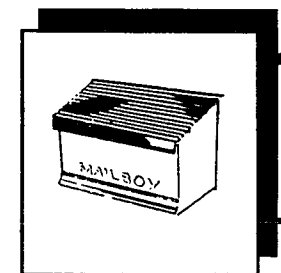

Local merchants provide jobs for your friends and neighbors and they need your support.

I hope to see you shopping about the area.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Insensitivity to handicapped leaves reader fuming

Dear Editor,

I'm writing to tell you something I saw this past Sunday at the Market Town Shopping Center that upset me very badly.

I'd just returned from shopping at Jitney Jungle and was putting my bags into my car, when I noticed a very elderly lady in a wheelchair attempting to enter the Dollar Store.

Just then a 30ish-year-old woman with a little boy, who looked about 12, approached the spot where this little elderly lady sat vainly pawing at the Dollar Store door.

I thought, "Oh, goody! They'll surely open the door for the old dear!"

WRONG! The people completely ignored the poor soul and fairly flew into their new model car. I started my raggedy old Olds and drove quickly to the spot just behind the rude lady's car, making it quite impossible for her to back out.

I got out of my car, and while striding quickly to the Dollar Store, I remarked quite loudly that anyone that couldn't see an old lady in a wheel chair trying to get in a door shouldn't be driving, because they must have a serious visual impairment!

The young woman's words drifted toward me, "Well, I'm not a mind reader!" I thought, "No, mind reading requires lots of intelligence!" I only wish that all businesses were handicap accessible!

Peace,
Evelyn Bradford

Lakeshore residents deserve some respect

Dear Editor,

I am sick and tired of Lakeshore getting put down for no reason. Ever since I can remember, it has been put down by the people in Bay St. Louis.

The Lakeshore community should rally together and stop this backstabbing. Lakeshore people are the best I have ever met. They stand behind you no matter what.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi
Economic Council

Bonding for public education

It's a bonding process to improve public education in the state, and it has worked in central and north Mississippi.

Madison and DeSoto counties have passed major school bond issues to improve public education — a step in the right direction to move Mississippi forward in public education.

Though bonds have passed overwhelmingly in these counties, the process to receive voter approval took hard work. You might say it was a bonding to pass bonds.

Citizens in Madison and DeSoto counties worked together to gather support for the school bond issues. The bottom line to passing such measures was that voters worked together, putting their differences aside, and voted to improve the public education system in their area.

Voters who support private schools, voters who have no children, and voters with low incomes, all came together for a cause — improving public education.

But why would all of these voters, many of whom do not have a direct reason to support public schools, work to pass such improvements? The answer is simple. Improved schools benefit everyone in the district.

Parents may now have a new option — private schools or improved public schools. In areas where school bonds are passed, citizens with no children will see improved quality of life for young people and families, and better economic opportunities. Families that cannot afford higher taxes will give their children the opportunity of a better education, thereby creating a brighter future for their children.

When the schools win, the community wins. And when schools win, Mississippi wins now and in the future.

Mississippi needs to continue bonding for better schools.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Age for obtaining Mississippi drivers license to be raised

The headline in the Yazoo Herald two weeks ago read: "Three Killed in One-car Accident near Bentonia."

The tragic details in the news story revealed that the driver of the automobile was a 15-year-old high school student who had run off a rural highway and smashed into a tree, killing him, his mother and her three-month-old baby.

A sheriff's deputy said his investigation indicated that the youth had fallen asleep at the wheel, causing the automobile to leave the road.

Outside Tupelo, just a few days before, a couple grieved over the death of their 15-year-old son, their only child, when he crashed his beloved pickup truck head-on into another pickup after turning from the driveway of his family's rural home into a two-lane road.

Those are typical of stories which appear with grim repetition in Mississippi newspapers. . . of 15-year-olds, who can legally drive under the state's antiquated driver licensing law, killing or maiming themselves and others in motor vehicle accidents.

Why is it, many Mississippians want to know, that this is the only state in the nation which still fully licenses drivers at the age of 15, when all other states have a higher age to become a licensed driver.

A group including concerned parents of prospective teenage drivers, representatives of nearly a dozen statewide organizations, ranging from several medical bodies to the state Parent-Teachers Association and safety leaders, has been working with several state lawmakers on legislation to raise the driver's license age to 16.

A carefully crafted bill to raise the legal driving age in Mississippi from 15 to 16 and also make driver education mandatory is being co-authored by Sen. Dick Hall (R) Jackson, and Reps. Rita Martinson (R) Madison, and Ken Stribling (R) Jackson, for introduction in both the Senate and House at the 1994 legislative session.

In the 1993 Legislature, a similar bill, sponsored by Hall, had died in a Senate subcommittee without a hearing, while separate bills backed by Stribling and Martinson had met a virtually identical fate in the House.

Bottling up reform bills in sub-committee where no recorded votes are taken is a notorious gimmick around the Legislature to avoid pin-pointing blame on individual legislators for ducking hard-to-make decisions.

To my personal knowledge, efforts to raise the age for obtaining a driver's license have been suppressed in the Mississippi Legislature going back over 40 years. Sen. Hall, who formerly serviced in the House, has been introducing a 16-year-old driving bill the past 12 years.

Coordinated by a Jackson housewife, Jean Nicholson Medley, an organization calling itself "15 to 16 Task Force," which grew out of the recent meetings of concerned groups, appears to the most comprehensive effort ever mounted to win legislative support for the 16-year-old driver's bill.

A joint informational campaign will be launched statewide beginning with a news conference next week at the State Capitol including representatives of supporting organizations.

In the first 10 months of this year, at least 12 15-year-olds have been killed in motor vehicle accidents in Mississippi. In proportion to all licensed drivers nationwide, the rate of deaths among 15-year-old drivers in Mississippi is over two and one-half times greater than other age groups.

The bill to be introduced by Hall, Martinson and Stribling would require after August 1, 1997 any person under age 17 to have successfully completed driver's education in order to receive a license. Only in the case of a 15-year-old residing with a physically impaired parent could the 16 age limit be waived, under the proposed bill.

Last summer, 15-year-old Angela Smith was the driver in an accident on a rural Madison County road in which she and two other persons died. Her father, Canton police officer Bobby Gene Smith, is a firm believer now that the age for obtaining a driver's license must be raised.

"If it would save just one person's life, it would be worth it," said the distraught father, adding, "I believe this will help save lives."

Balanced budget amendment expected to take center stage

It is expected to create one of the most spirited debates during the 103rd Congress. The Balanced Budget Amendment, scheduled for a vote in the U.S. Senate this month and in the House of Representatives in January, is opposed by the Administration and supported by the National Taxpayers Union. Last year the amendment failed by only a handful of votes in Congress.

As many may know, I have voted in favor of the Balanced Budget Amendment to the Constitution every time it has come before the House, and have every intention to support the amendment until it is passed.

The amendment, which in the 102nd Congress fell 11 votes short in the Senate and nine votes short in the House would prohibit the government from spending more than it raises in revenue unless 60 percent of the House and Senate vote otherwise, or in times of war or national emergency.

Despite the failure of Congress to pass an amendment to curb spending in the last dozen years, I believe that the large freshman class in the House and strong public opinion give the amendment its best chance yet.

I firmly believe that we must curb spending or face dire consequences. America currently has a national debt of $4.35 trillion, and a budget deficit estimate of $252 billion. Our nation's future success or failure will be determined by how we address our nation's debt and yearly budget deficits.

As a city councilman and Mississippi State Senator, I was required by law to spend no more than was collected in taxes. This is an excellent law. Quite frankly, if this had been part of the U.S. Constitution our nation would not be squandering almost $300 billion a year in interest on the national debt.

I cannot change the past, but I can change the future. I will vote for the Balanced Budget Amendment because it is what is best for our nation, our children, and our children's children. And it will help restore fiscal sanity to our nation's budget process.

Sincere congratulations to George Cassis on being awarded Outstanding Citizen of Diamondhead by the Diamondhead Community Association at their general meeting Friday, Nov. 5 at the Diamondhead Country Club.

DIAMONDHEAD COMMUNITY ASSOC.

Don Henderson, administrator of Hancock Medical Center, was guest speaker at the November dinner meeting and provided all who attended a greater insight as to the effects of the proposed health care bill. Many requests were made as to the status of the incorporation study. The moderator of the committee charged with the continuation of this task has disclosed that the long-awaited analysis of all of the information, fact, and figures gathered during the two open forum meetings and other sources had been received from Mr. Mills, the consulting attorney. The committee is now using this analysis to develop a fact sheet of sufficient dimensions to give each registered voter in Diamondhead information.

Then he or she can make an unemotional, unbiased decision to sign or not to sign the petition.

Kick that habit

Tips to overcome nicotine addiction

Smoking cigarettes is a dangerous habit, as it has become the leading cause of death in this country. "There are smokers who want to quit but just don't know how," says Dr. Eric Dahl of The University of Mississippi's Student Health Services.

Kicking the nicotine habit is a difficult challenge because of nicotine's powerful potential for addiction, Dahl warns.

"The addictive quality of nicotine in cigarettes is just as potent as that of heroin. Nicotine is quickly absorbed through the surface of the lungs and shoots straight to the brain. Along the way, it hits all the 'sweet spots' that effectively lock a person into behavior, prompting a person to continue to smoke," said the physician.

However, the rewards of quitting far outweigh the struggle involved. Soon after quitting, a smoker's statistical risk of death declines. Ten to 15 years after quitting, the risk returns to that of someone who has never smoked. Dahl offers these tips to help smokers quit:

—Convince yourself of the obvious reasons to quit. Think about lung cancer, heart disease, wrinkling of the skin, discoloration of the teeth, and smoker's breath.

—Motivate yourself through a positive approach. If you've tried to quit before and it didn't work, don't consider yourself a failure. Examine past efforts and try to determine key factors that worked against your efforts. Remember, all successful efforts must begin with a determination to succeed — so don't give up.

—Take active steps to quit. After determining to quit, move into the active phase by talking to someone about your decision. There are many methods to choose from, including Nicoderm and Nicotrol (patches that are attached to a person's body to release nicotine, helping first to break the hand-to-mouth motion habit), hypnosis, or other motivational programs. Dahl recommends the patch method because of its high success rate — but a physician has to prescribe it.

—Find a coach. Seek the help of a good friend, one who cares about you and also wants you to quit. Make sure your coach won't come down on you if you slip, but will help you discover why and help you start again.

—Develop new habits. If you usually light up after meals, go for a walk or play a game — anything to keep you from picking up a cigarette. Start running or jogging, enjoying the realization that you can now run a mile without passing out.

—Try again and again. Most smokers stop an average of five times before finally kicking the habit. Don't get discouraged if you fail in your first attempts.

LITTER IS UNLAWFUL

The Bob Harmon Forecast

College Football Highlights

With the Top 20 rankings, conference titles and bowl games on the line, this is a weekend of big games, and the biggest take place in the Big East, the Southeastern Conference and the Pacific-10. In Morgantown, W. Va., the best of the Big East, Miami and West Virginia, will slug it out in what shapes up as West Virginia's biggest game in years. After a hard-luck 5-4-2 season in '92, the Mountaineers have stayed healthy and, under the leadership of quarterback Jake Kellner, have finally fulfilled their potential by blossoming into one of the best teams in the country. Last year they lost to Miami 35-23 — the Hurricanes' seventh win in eight games against West Virginia — but in this one the Mountaineers are our slight favorites. A few weeks from now, West Virginia will cap its season by making its first bowl appearance since 1989.

Alabama's shocking loss to LSU two weeks ago took some of the glamour away from the Crimson Tide's visit to Auburn, but the game is no less crucial in the battle for the SEC championship — and we're picking Alabama. Though the Tide has won three straight Iron Bowls, as this 100-year-old rivalry is known, none has been a runaway: Last year the national champions beat the 5-5-1 Tigers 17-0. This year, with a brand-new head coach, Terry Bowden, and a brand-new attitude, Auburn would love to claim a national title of its own. That, however, would require a big upset this Saturday.

The Pacific-10 has remained interesting thanks largely to UCLA's rough start (losses to California and Nebraska in its first two games), because there's no denying that the Bruins have played like the class of the conference — and the best Rose Bowl choice — as the season has progressed. This weekend at the L.A. Coliseum, their archrivals, the Southern California Trojans, will take their best shot at the Bruins, and no doubt make it a great game. The last four UCLA-USC scores were 38-37, 24-21 (both UCLA wins), 45-42 (USC) and 10-10.

And don't forget, Lehigh hosts Lafayette in the 129th game of the most-often-played rivalry in college football, which dates back to 1864. If this one is anything like last year, when Lafayette captured the Patriot League championship with a 32-29 win, there won't be a dull moment. In '92 the Leopards and Engineers rang up 49 first downs and an awesome 1,072 yards of offense; Lehigh had 480 yards of passing alone. Who says all the excitement's in Division I-A?

NFL Forecast for Sunday and Monday Nov. 21-22

Buffalo, 33—Indianapolis, 17

Last year the Bills won their sixth straight over the Colts with a 38-0 lougher, giving up only 140 total yards, then got beat 16-13 in the rematch when Indianapolis rallied to win in overtime.

Cleveland, 27—Houston, 24

Two more intradivisional rivals that split in '92: The Browns won 24-14 in Houston and the Oilers won 17-14 in Cleveland. Who's less predictable, Cleveland's Kosar or Houston's Moon? Beats us.

Dallas, 31—Atlanta, 20

Emmitt Smith ran for 174 of the Cowboys' 435 yards as Dallas blew the Falcons out last year, 41-17. Once again Atlanta is among the worst in the league against the rush; Smith will run again.

Green Bay, 22—Detroit, 16

The Lions are ranked higher than the Packers in the NFC on both offense and defense, but we like Green Bay anyway. Last year the Pack beat Detroit twice, 27-13 in Detroit and 38-10 in Milwaukee.

Kansas City, 28—Chicago, 21

Sort of an oddball matchup, between teams that have played only five times. The Chiefs won last 21-10, in '90. Both have solid defenses, but, unlike the Bears, Kansas City has some offense, too.

L.A. Raiders, 24—San Diego, 22

Three weeks ago in L.A., the Chargers' Donald Frank took the wind out of the Raiders' sails with a 102-yard interception return, and San Diego won 30-23. We still think L.A. is the better team.

L.A. Rams, 26—Washington, 23

The Redskins have beaten the Rams six out of the last seven times they've played, but that doesn't mean much this year. L.A.'s Jim Everett can't win games by himself, but at least he's at home.

Miami, 32—New England, 14

Thanks to those pesky Jets, who keep beating the Dolphins, game like this one become must wins for Miami. In the last game of the '92 season, Miami won 16-13 in OT, its eighth straight over N.E.

Minnesota, 21—Tampa Bay, 17

In typical style, the Vikings shut the Buccaneers down 15-0 the first time they met, forcing five turnovers and notching their first shutout in two years. Minnesota has just enough offense to win.

N.Y. Giants, 29—Philadelphia, 20

With 169 yards and two TD's from Lewis Tillman, the Giants knocked the Eagles out of first in the NFC East five weeks ago with a 21-10 win. Now, with Dallas on top, the Giants fight for second.

Jets, 30—Cincinnati, 18

Last year the Jets built a 17-0 lead over the Bengals and had to hold off a late Cincinnati rally to preserve a 17-14 win — but that was when Boomer was on the other side of the line. He'll go wild.

Pittsburgh, 27—Denver, 21

The key to this game will be how well the Steeler defense, best against the run, handles John Elway's passing game. With both teams in divisional dogfights, this should be a real battle, too.

San Francisco, 28—New Orleans, 24

(Monday) In a surprisingly low-scoring affair in week four, the Saints sacked Steve Young six times and pulled out a 16-13 win with a last-second Morten Andersen field goal. S.F. won't allow a repeat.

Rocks take 2 from Pass

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws took two of three basketball games from the Pass Christian Pirates at the Brother Peter Memorial Gym at SSC on Tuesday.

In the first game of the night, the SSC freshman team lost to the Pirates by a score of 55-22. The halftime score was 30-8. The Rocks made a strong comeback in the third quarter but lost intensity in the fourth.

The Pirates built too much momentum in the first half for the Rocks to overcome.

Joey Niolet led the Rocks in scoring with 13 points.

SSC Coach Jeff Barbera stated, "The Pass came out of the blocks smoking and never let us establish our game plan. They came out and beat us."

In the second game, the SSC junior varsity team defeated the Pirates 68-56.

SSC went into halftime trailing 28-27 after a nip and tuck first half. However, in the second half the Rocks outscored the Pirates 41-28 to take the momentum and the win.

Jumane Peterson led all scorers by cashing in 30 points followed by Jason Kirschenheuter knocking down 15 points. Kelton Thompson and David McGuiness chipped in 13 and 10 points, respectively.

Coach Jerry Spell commented, "We looked a little sluggish the first half. The boys responded to the call in the second half and took everything away from the Pass. We beat a good ball club tonight."

In the finale of the night, Coach Jay Ladner's varsity Rocks defeated the Pirates 84-72. This is the same Pass High team that the Rocks lost to in the championship round of the Hancock County Tourney last week.

Ladner commented on his team's performance, "We beat a very good team tonight. This team outplayed us last week in the tourney. We made some key adjustments that allowed us to perfect our game plan. The boys just went out there, did their assignments, and whooped them."

The game was a close one in the first half. It was reminiscent of the championship game in the tournament. The Rocks led at halftime by a score of 43-42.

The key to the win was the Rocks outscoring the Pass in the third quarter 22-8, and 41-30 in the second half.

Hector Hernandez and Terry Lawyer had 21 points each, while Vince Moran and Brandon Benoit chipped in 15 and 13 points, respectively.

Hernandez also played an outstanding defensive ball game, said Ladner, by tallying numerous key steals throughout the game.

The varsity improved its record to 3-1 on the season. The Rocks next game will be at Biloxi High this Saturday.

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Bay High Tigers dropped three tough losses to the St. Martin Yellow Jackets on Tuesday.

In the first game of the night, the Bay High Lady Tigers lost to the St. Martin Lady Jackets by a score of 43-19.

Bay High had an impressive offensive performance from Tylahana Jordan who had 5 points and 5 steals on the night. The Lady Tigers received a defensive push from Valerie Christmas with 7 rebounds.

In the second game of the night, the Bay High junior varsity Tigers lost to the Yellow Jackets 66-32.

The Tigers played tough ball for three quarters but broke down in the fourth quarter with too many mistakes, said Coach Barney Necaise. The j.v. Tigers are very young and playing mostly freshman, while the Yellow Jackets played mostly sophomores.

Steve Cooksey led Bay High with 8 points while Lonnie Bradley and David Young chipped in 6 points and 5 points, respectively.

Jermaine Collins and Reggie Williams played an outstanding defensive ball game for the Tigers, said Necaise.

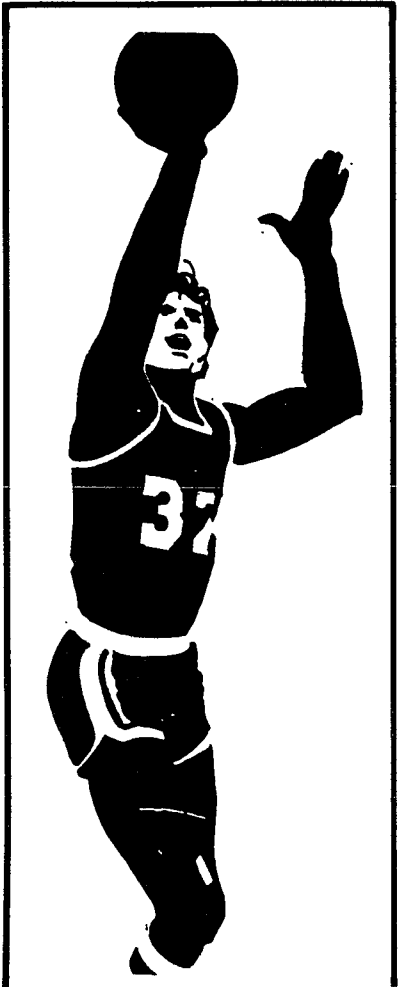

In the final game of the night, the varsity Tigers were overcome by the Yellow Jackets 70-27.

The Tigers are a young and inexperienced team that starts only one senior. Bay High is in a rebuilding stage while the Yellow Jackets return a strong team with experience from last year.

The Tigers were led by Gerald Watson with 10 points followed by Robert Vonture with 6 points.

Rickey Soldinie turned in a fine defensive performance for the Tigers, said Necaise.

The next game for the Tigers is tonight against Stone County at the Tiger Dome.

Junior Rocks split with P.C. Pirates

The St. Stanislaus junior high Rocks shined in their two game performance with the Pass Christian Pirates on Monday.

The St. Stanislaus freshman Rocks lost their first game of the year to the Pearl River Central Blue Devils on November 9.

After a close game, the Rocks came up short with a 35-26 loss.

Corey Charles led the Rocks offensive attack with 8 points followed by Frank Klein with 6.

Coach Jeff Barbera commented, "We came out of the gates slow, but picked it up in the second half. Things will pick up for us. Eric Knight and Joey Niolet hit the boards hard and played good defensive ball for us."

BJH girls win big

The Bay Junior High girls basketball team defeated Pearl River Central Blue Devils on Monday by a score of 46-22.

Shannon Baker led the Lady Tigers in scoring with 14 points. The game was dominated by Chanda Haley who had an impressive performance with 13 points, 15 rebounds, and 6 steals.

Gi Gi Elmer had a good offensive output with 4 assists.

A little help from their friends

The St. Stanislaus baseball field was re-sodded last week through the efforts of the SSC Diamond Club, Rock-A-Chaw baseball players and members of the Pearl River Community College baseball team. Eight SSC graduates are affiliated with the PRCC Wildcat squad. The SSC Diamond Club has planned several fund-raising events to pay for improvements to the field.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Nine Mile produces largest catch during rainy week

It's time to go fishin' y'all. There have been a few weather problems this past week that kept most of the fishin' buddies at home. One day, my rain gauge was completely filled with rain that fell in just a few hours.

Since my rain gauge only measures up to six inches, I have to figure that more than six inches of rain fell on that day. According to Travis Rouse, "It was raining so hard that the ducks were walking along side the road."

Another problem has been the extent of the tidal flow. During the summer months a big tidal flow would be helpful. But the three feet between high and low tide that occurred this past week kinda put the "quacious" on the troll fishing in the bayous and the canals. I think "quacious" means that it caused the fishin' to be bad. If it does not mean that, so what, it sounds impressive anyway. The falling tide in Bayou Caddy was moving fast enough to make most people bring some extra rope with them. You could tie the rope to a piling in the bayou, hold on to the end of it, and water ski on the tidal movement. Let me tell you, that is a fast-moving tide!

Was able to get some information from a few fishin' buddies who caught fish. Beas' and Tom of Diamondhead were interviewed at the landing. They had a nice mess of fish.

Beas' and Tom filled up two ice chests with the trout that they caught, and this was not even their limit. They claimed to have about 40 to 45 trout in their ice chests. To round out their day, they had their limit of reds in other ice chests. That's a pretty good trip no matter how you cut it.

The trout were humongous. According to Tom, at least one of the trout could not be brought into the boat. It was too big. He claims that it was longer than the transom was wide. Sounds like a good reason not to put the trout into the boat. I mean a trout that big could be dangerous.

I maybe could have bought their story, except that the very next question that I asked them was why did they get back so early? Their answer was that they had to come back early because they ran out of barley pop and were concerned that they might suffer the effects of dehydration if they stayed out too long. Right!

The hot spot for the fishing this past week was the area around Nine Mile in the Louisiana Marsh.

The way to get to the Nine Mile area from the mouth of Bayou Caddy is to take a compass heading of 180 degrees. The mouth of Nine Mile has a red blinking light to mark the channel. This whole area is producing fish right now. The trip is about 14 miles by water from Bayou Caddy, and it is about 10 miles from LaFrance in Ansley.

Bo Bordage, age 14, caught a stripper that went about four or five pounds. He was fishing with live shrimp on the bottom aboard the Miss Chloe in the Bayou Caddy area.

Several folks caught some nice white trout off the end of Pleasure Street when the tidal movement slowed down to a dull roar.

This week's wonderful wise words: Be aware of changing weather patterns if you go to the marsh.

How long of a rope do turtles need to water ski, Turtle?

Christmas Around the World

Bay Area Chorale, Jefferson Symphony Orchestra and Chorus join for concert

Diamondhead Performing Arts Society invites the family to take a holiday musical journey with the Jefferson Symphony Orchestra, the Jefferson Symphony Chorus and the locally formed Bay Area Chorale as they perform traditional Christmas favorites from Around the World.

The program will include O Holy Night, Greensleeves, and a rousing rendition of the popular poem 'Twas the Night Before Christmas, narrated with orchestral accompaniment.

The program will include soloists, chorale renditions, plus some audience "sing-along" participation.

Guest artist Patricia Corbett, soprano, has been hailed by the New York Times as a singer with a "lively stage personality and sparkling vocalism".

She is an award winner of the Sullivan Foundation of New York, first place winner of the Young Musicians Foundation and a finalist with the Metropolitan Opera, San Francisco and Chicago, lyric auditions.

The Bay Area Chorale was formed from a nucleus of individuals and choir members in the Bay area. It was initiated by the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society and is under the direction of Joy Mehrkens, executive director, and Phil Smith, associate director.

The Chorale is currently developing into a professional entity. As this takes place, Curtis Stout, on behalf of Diamondhead Performing Arts Society, continues to provide a genuine paternal interest, offering both moral and financial support to ensure the continued success of the fledgling organization.

The Chorale is comprised of volunteers who give of their time and talents because of their love of singing and their desire to offer music to the Gulf Coast communities.

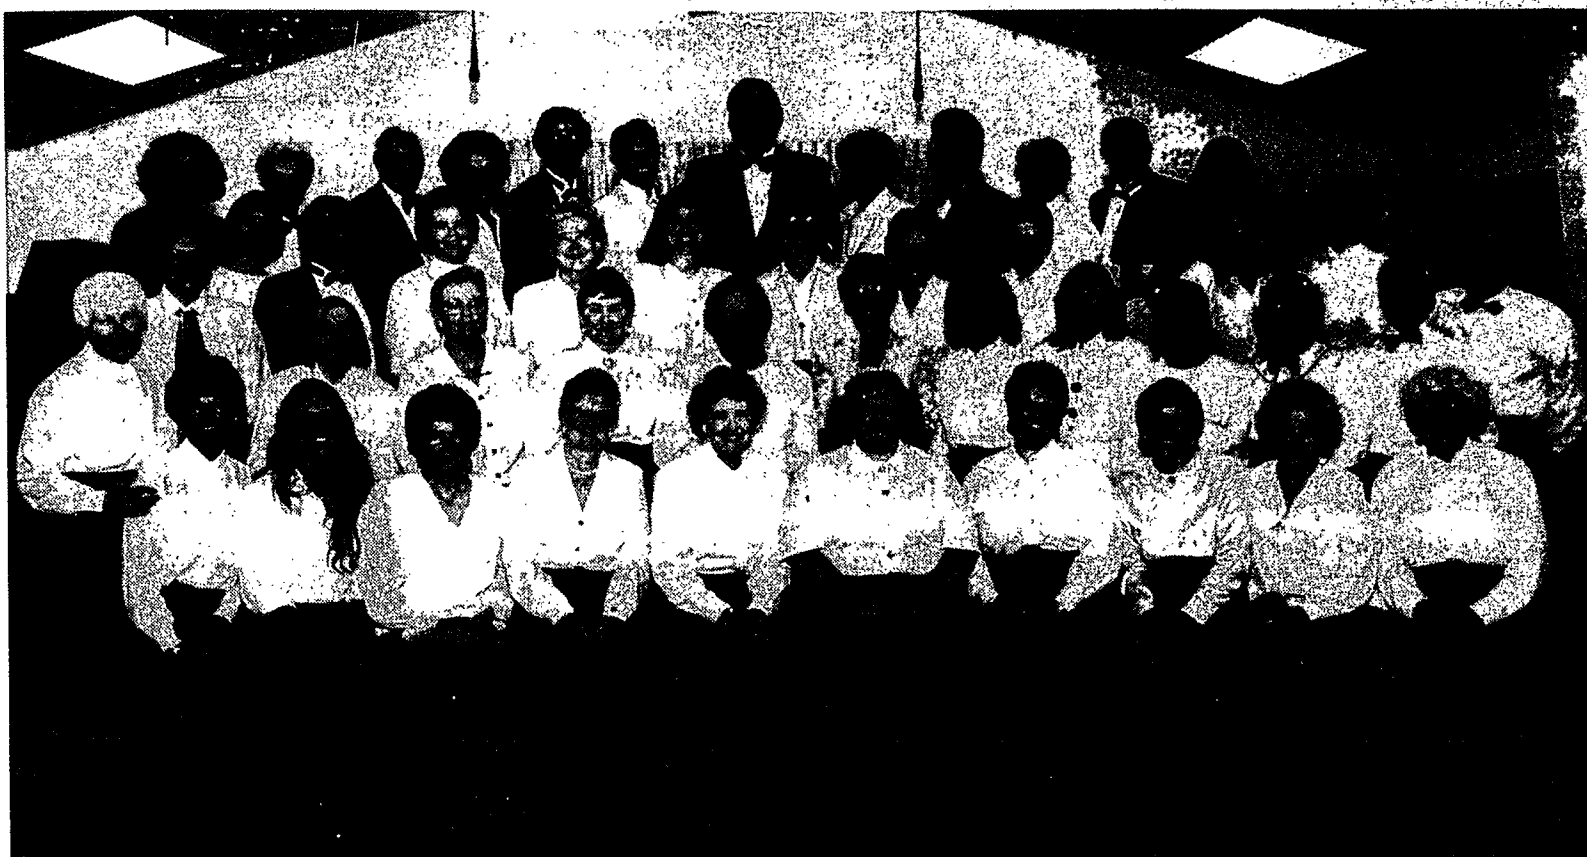

The Jefferson Symphony Chorus debuted in Carnegie Hall on May 10, 1993 under the direction of conductor Dennis G. Assaf.

This chorus was the first affiliate and the catalyst for the formation of the Jefferson Performing Arts Society.

Dennis Assaf, concert master, holds a bachelor of music education degree from Loyola University and a master of music in conducting from the University of New Orleans.

Assaf is founding director of the highly recognized Jefferson Performing Arts Society. Among his numerous conducting credits, his major accomplishment thus far has been his creation of his own professional symphony orchestra, which has virtually changed the cultural aura of his community.

Christmas Around the

The Bay Area Chorale

World will be presented Sunday, December 12 at 3 p.m. at the Bay High School auditorium on Blue Meadow Road. Tickets (adults, $10; children, $7) may be purchased at Diamondhead Discount Drugs, or by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope

Thriller set in N.O. has all the right ingredients

WITH EXTREME
PREJUDICE

By Frederick Barton

A REVIEW

Special to the Echo
by Sherry
Schwabacher

At last! A novel about New Orleans that gets it all exactly right — the geography, the politics, the history — while telling a story that keeps you turning the pages.

In With Extreme Prejudice, Barton, a talented film reviewer for the weekly tabloid Gambit, tells the story of Mike Barnett, a talented film reviewer for the New Orleans daily newspaper, the States-Tribune.

Mike is still grieving over the death of his wife, Joan, in a traffic accident a year previously. That year has seen Mike dive deeper and deeper into the Scotch bottle.

Then, a seemingly routine burglary at his Uptown home sends him searching for the answer to a puzzling lawsuit

Joan had been involved with, concerning the letting of a contract by the Orleans Parish School Board for the building of a new high school.

Joan had argued this case all the way to the United States Supreme Court. In fact, Grieve vs. Retif had become an obsession. Now, Mike, seeking some meaning in his life, vows to solve the mystery once and for all.

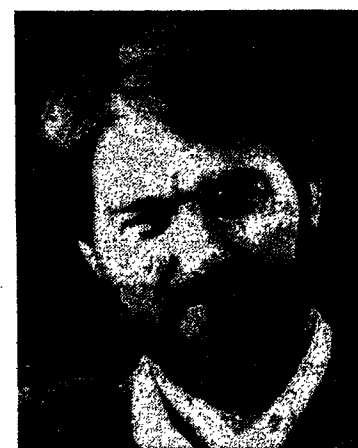

His search takes him into the depths of his own psyche, making him question his own beliefs and actions. Because With Extreme Prejudice is a thriller that intelligently delineates racism, the reader is forced, along with Mike, to take a good, hard look at the differences between what we say we believe and how we actually act. This deeply buried prejudice leads to the most shocking death of all.

Throughout, in flashbacks, Barton shows us that most difficult creature to capture on paper, a happy marriage. He also gives us a window into Mike's current state of mind through his movie reviews.

With Extreme Prejudice has no easy answers. Yes, the mystery is solved in the end, but the questions remain. How can we do the right thing?

Thank you, Rick Barton, for writing a smart, sexy novel about real people. I hope you've started the film script — I'm looking forward to the movie.

Editor's note: Rick Barton will autograph With Extreme Prejudice at Bookends, 111 Hwy. 90, Bay St. Louis from 2-3:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 20.

NASA/PRC center will enhance technology training

NASA and Pearl River Community College have designed a training center to produce and manipulate NASA-generated aerial data that will assist industry and spur economic development.

The NASA/Pearl River Community College Geographic Information System Industrial Training Center combines the expertise of NASA technology with the community college educational system. Pearl River is leading the way among Mississippi's community colleges in implementing the GIS program.

The center will enhance technology training in Mississippi's community college system by incorporating new technology that can enhance industrial activity. It will also expand the base of GIS expertise in the state.

Students are currently from industry and government offices. The first class began this month and includes personnel with Hancock County's tax assessor's office and the City of Hattiesburg. The training is provided at no cost to the industries involved.

"In a week's time a student can learn how to enter data into a database, and in a few months' time can learn how to manipulate that data," Lee said.

"The aim for Pearl River is to bridge the gap — to take data and match it with local applications and get students trained to get out and get jobs," said Lee.

To produce a Geographic Information System (GIS), information from standard paper maps is combined with other data such as soils, topography, population, roads and railroads, drainage basins and utility and telephone lines. This information is combined into desktop computer.

GIS technology is useful in resource and land management and industrial park siting and maintenance. If an industry leader wants to locate in a certain area but needs detailed information about the land area, a GIS overview of the land area would provide an aerial "picture" of all of the combined information.

Coast Magazine resumes publication

Coast Magazine makes its return this week after a 19-month hiatus. It will make its debut on newsstands later this week.

The magazine, which returns as a quarterly publication, features a cover story about Karen Anne Graham, Coast native and former supermodel, and the winning essays from the Coast-wide children's essay contest titled, "A Coast Christmas."

Coast Magazine will continue to cover the people, places, issues and events of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The winter issue has departments that are familiar to old Coast Magazine readers, such as Coast homes, people and Coast cooks, as well as some new ones, such as reflections, which tap the memories of long-time Coast residents.

The new version of the magazine also will reflect the Coast's ethnic and cultural diversity.

Coast Magazine was started in October 1988 by Neil White as a bi-monthly city and regional magazine. It ceased publication as a quarterly magazine after the Spring 1992 issue because White's company, Coast Magazine Corp., went into Chapter 11 bankruptcy.

In August 1992, Dan Mortimer, Fred May and John Dane III formed Ship Island Holding Co. and bought Coast Business Journal and the rights to publish Coast Magazine.

Chapter 32 education program refunds available to certain veterans

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) is attempting to locate veterans who participated in the post-Vietnam era Veterans' Educational Assistance Program — more commonly known as Chapter 32 Program or VEAP — and who did not use all of the funds available to them or failed to request a refund.

The Chapter 32 Program was open to those who entered military service between 1977 and 1985 and elected to participate by contributing between $25 and $100 monthly from their military pay into an education fund.

The Department of Defense (DOD) contributed $2 in matching funds for every $1 participants contributed. The combined contributions could be used to pay for education expenses with certain exceptions.

Program participants had up to ten years from date of discharge from active duty to use the funds.

The VA estimates that approximately 13,000 veterans and discharged more than 10 years ago have contributions remaining in their Chapter 32 accounts. These veterans are now due a refund equal to the unused balance of their own contributions to the fund.

The refunds could be as much as $2,700, the maximum amount that service members could contribute. Matching funds contributed by the Department of Defense are not refundable.

Veterans who enrolled in the American Legion seeks oratorical contest entries

High school students of Hancock County have been invited by Clement R. Bontemps Post 139 of the American Legion to compete in the 1993-94 annual National High School Oratorical Contest.

The invitation to enter the competition was extended by Post Commander Leroy Necaise, chairman.

The subject in the prepared oration portion of the contest must be about some phase of the Constitution of the United States, emphasizing the duties and obligations of a citizen to the United States government. The prepared oration must be the original effort of each contestant and must be 8-10 minutes in length.

Deadline for local students will be Feb. 5, 1994. Prizes will be awarded to winners of the local contest by American Legion Post 139.

In addition to the awards by winners of the various elimination rounds of competition, university scholarships of $18,000, $16,000, $14,000 and $12,000 will be awarded to the first through fourth places in the national finals.

Each state winner who competes in the regional contest will receive a $1,000 scholarship. Participants in each of four sectional contest who do not advance to the national finals will receive an additional $3,000 scholarship.

The top four youthful orators who have won all previous elimination rounds of the contest will vie for top honors in the 1993-94 National Finals on April 14, 1994 at Colorado Springs.

The American Legion will pay the expenses of state winners as they progress in national competition.

High school students in Hancock County, who are interested in entering the competition, will find complete rules and contest information from Leroy Necaise, 701 Carroll Ave., Bay St. Louis, MS 39520, phone 467-8362.

Women veterans

Registration with national organization encouraged

The Women In Military Service For America Memorial Foundation (WIMSA) is sponsoring a registration drive in conjunction with National Women Veterans Recognition Week of women veterans and active duty servicewomen for the Memorial's computerized register.

The 1990 census reports that there are currently 1.1 million women veterans in the United States. According to the Department of Veterans Affairs, 9,100 reside in the state of Mississippi.

WIMSA was founded to create a Memorial to honor the women who have served the U.S. military throughout history. Authorized by Congress in 1986, this Memorial will provide a legacy to future generations by capturing the undocumented history of our American servicewomen. It will be a place of honor for the living and deceased; those who served in the past, those who serve today, and those who will serve in the future.

Meg Hilliker, a local field representative for WIMSA commented: "Women of Mississippi are a proud part of this nation's heritage, having served valiantly during peace time and times of conflict. This Memorial will be a place of lasting recognition for our women veterans, and a meaningful way for a grateful nation to thank them for their service and sacrifice."

Each registration can include the photo, military history, and personal memories of its subject. Visitors will be able to access the registration of any servicewoman through a computerized database at the Memorial. Scholars will have a solid record of the achievements of women, in partnership with men, in the defense of our nation.

If you are an American woman who served in the Armed Forces at any time, or is currently serving, or know of one whom you would like to register, please call 1-800-4-SALUTE or write to WIMSA, Dept. 560, Washington, D.C. 20042-0560.

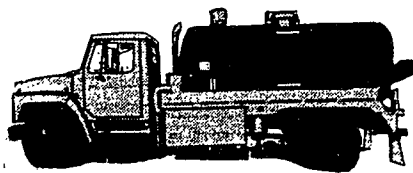

Post 3253 celebrates 50 years

George R. Cramer, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, announced the award of a Golden Anniversary Citation to VFW Post 3253, Bay St. Louis. The Post will be 50 years old on Nov. 28, 1993.

In issuing the citation to Post Commander Edward M. Binet Jr., Cramer congratulated all members of Post 3253 for the outstanding record they have achieved of service to the community, the veterans and to the nation over the past 50 years. Post 3253 joins a growing list of VFW Posts whose long association with the organization have made it the most successful major veterans group in the country with a membership of more than two million men and women.

Hancock High students represent many nations

Special to the Echo by Cindy Havard
They range in age from 12 to 18 and represent several different cultures.

Noemi Massin, Yannick Fortin, Juan Puerto, Renke Redell, Onno Redell, Jean Deeks, Mariana Oliveira, Gustavo Oliveira, Antonio Carrillo, Jorge Carrillo, Ana Molina, Jorge Molina, Oscar Molina and Leila Gargoum all have something in common: they live in Hancock County and attend Hancock High School.

Two of the 14 enrolled in grades 7-12 are exchange students, while the others live with relatives.

Mariana, 12, and Gustavo Oliveira, 14, are from Brazil. They have been in the school district for 3½ years.

They live with their parents, Thais and Delphin Oliveira, in Diamondhead.

"Schools in Brazil are much harder," Gustavo said. "School begins at 7 a.m. and ends at 12 p.m. each day."

Ana, 14, Oscar, 18, and Jorge Molina, 18, are from Honduras. They reside with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jorge L. Molina Sr. of Bay St. Louis.

This is the Molinas' second year at Hancock High. The family moved to the New Orleans area in 1988.

Jean Deeks, 18, is a 12th grade student from Belize. Jean describes the Belize culture as primitive. The people are very religious, and the Jamaican climate is warm year around.

She said, "The biggest difference in the two cultures, aside from Creole being the dominant language, is the people of Belize do not believe in doing things to impress others."

Swiss exchange student Noemi Massin, 16, resides with her host family, Dr. and Mrs. Michael Werby, of Diamondhead.

Noemi, who is from Orbe, Switzerland, enjoys pep rallies. Her native language is French.

Canadian exchange student Yannick Fortin, 16, resides with his host family, Larry and Elise Minnaert of Diamondhead. Yannick, who is from Quebec, Canada, describes his home town of Chambord as a small town.

He is fascinated by the vast amounts of land in this area and the bright lights of the casinos. He said the teachers here are treated with more respect. The teachers and students are on a first-name basis in Chambord.

Antonio, 17, and Jorge Carrillo, 18, are originally from Merida, Mexico. Their parents moved to the Leetown community last year. This is their second year at Hancock High.

Antonio, who is the place kicker on the varsity football team said, "The kids do the same things in Merida as they do here — sports, parties and movies."

Juan Puerto, 17, also from Merida, recently moved in with the Carrillo family. Juan is a 10th grade student and the cousin of Antonio and Jorge. He moved in with his cousins in hopes of learning to speak the English language fluently.

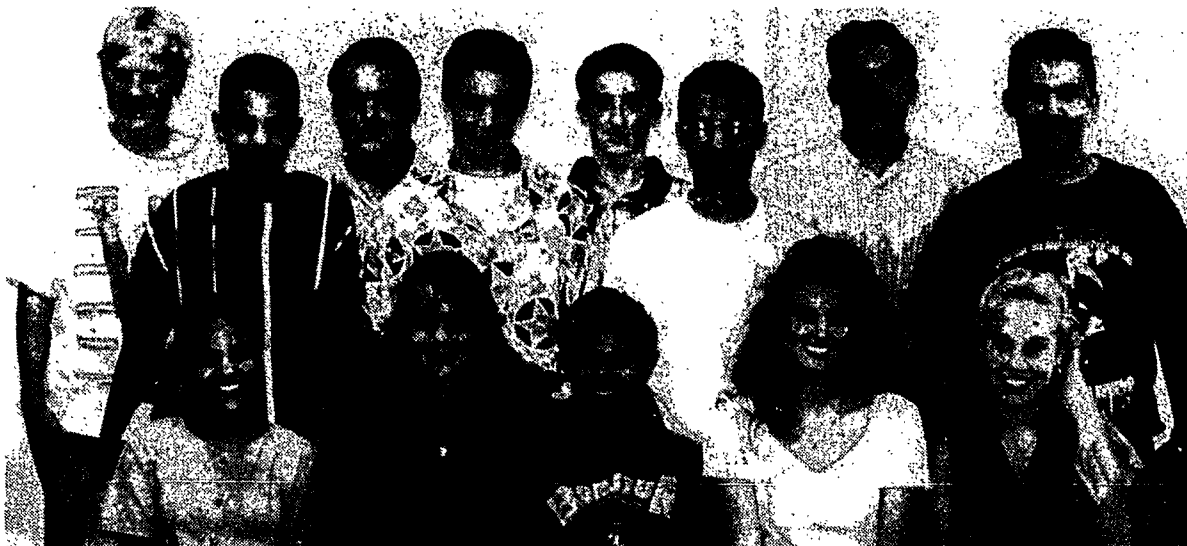

Jorge said, "The students in Merida have a better chance to receive college scholarships if they can speak English."

Renke, 17, and Onno Redell, 14, are from Germany. Renke was a foreign exchange student in Michigan last year. Both boys reside with their parents in the Diamondhead area. Mr. Redell was relocated to Stennis Space Center to serve as a consultant for one year. This spring the family is scheduled to return to Germany.

was born in Libya.

Her parents came to the U.S. to attend the University of Southwestern Louisiana where they met and were married.

The Gargoums celebrate festivities from their homeland to remind their children of their heritage. The Gargoums also have two children attending Hancock North Central Elementary, 10-year-old Jazmin and 8-year-old Riyad.

TIP students named at CEHS

Eight seventh grade students at Coast Episcopal High School have been selected as candidates in the Duke University Talent Identification Program (TIP).

Chosen are Eleanore Bernadas, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ron Bernadas of Pass Christian; Chris Dauterive, son of Dr. and Mrs. Alton Dauterive of Pass Christian; Adam Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Miller of Gulfport;

Margaret Parks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parks of Long Beach; Brandon Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Russell of Gulfport; Daniel Selig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Selig of Gulfport;

Robert Sexton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Sexton of Pass Christian; Robert White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary White of Long Beach.

The Talent Identification Program focuses on academically talented children in 16 states in the Southeast, Southwest and Midwest. Their selection is based on performance on the Stanford Achievement Test, California Achievement Test, or other standard achievement, aptitude or mental ability tests.

The objectives of the program include identifying the very able among students at an early age, facilitating their education and following and nurturing their talent through the critical middle and high school years.

SSC Pepsi Students

Pepsi Students of the Month for September at St. Stanislaus are, front row, seventh grader Patrick Lee, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Lee of Bay St. Louis; second row, freshman Matt Dillenkoffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Dillenkoffer III; and sophomore Jeremy Compretta, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Compretta of Bay St. Louis; third row, junior Nathan Middleton, son of Sarah Middleton of Bay St. Louis; and eighth grader, Derek Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Bradley of Bay St. Louis.
